

In the claims:

Amend the following claims:

Sub B1
A2

9. (amended) A radio apparatus embodied in a radio telephone, comprising a display device; at least one control element [for selecting and/or activating functions of the radio apparatus which are displayed on said display device; said at least one control element being] disposed neighboring said display device [so that] with a local association [exists] between said at least one control element and displaying of functions of the radio apparatus on said display device[; means for providing at least one first operating mode in which information about said first operating mode is associated in said display device with at least one control element, and information in a second operating mode associated with said first operating mode is converted into a function for activating said first activating mode, which function is activateable by], said at least one control element selecting and/or actuating of functions of the radio apparatus displayed on said display device.